UP TO WILSON SAYS JOHN LIND

Commissioner Says Huerta's Message Gives Excellent Peace Opening

HE SAYS TWO COUNTRIES CAN NOW GET TOGETHER

Wm. Robertson, American, Slain by Rebel Leader; Americans Reach Zacatecas

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 18.—"I believe that Provisional President Huerta's message to the Mexican congress gives an excellent opening for Mexico and America to get together," was the statement made here today by John Lind. He added: "That is all I can say. The rest is up to President Wilson."

American Slain Sept. 3.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18.—William O. Robertson, an American mining man, was killed by rebels at El Tolo in Eastern Sinaloa, Sept. 10, according to advices which have reached the capital. Robertson left Durango Sept. 3 by the overland route for Mazatlan. Jesus Medrinal leader of the rebels in that section, in a signed statement to the American consul at Durango, said that he killed Robertson because the American refused to give up his arms.

Fifty American refugees from Durango are reported to have reached Zacatecas in safety.

BIXBY CASE IS ON IN FULL FEATHER

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—The juryman selected to try George H. Bixby are mostly farmers, and are: W. Mollenkott, transfer agent, Monrovia; E. E. Teague, rancher, San Dimas; P. F. Griswold, rancher, Covina; S. C. Buehn, rancher, Artesia; H. L. McCabe, rancher, Lankershim; B. Miller, orange grower, Covina; S. T. Thurman, rancher, El Monte; H. Humphrey, retired farmer, Pasadena; D. L. Crane, former superintendent of Whittier water works, Whittier; James Moyle, laborer, Artesia; Edward Feckler, rancher, Pomona; A. Comstock, rancher, El Monte.

The trial of Bixby will not be held closed doors. His attorneys asked for an order excluding the public, but Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe, who will hear the case, denied the request in an unusual statement from the bench, saying the public has the right to hear the testimony in a case that had aroused so much public attention.

Miss Barker testified that a man named Mosher met her at Ocean Park and she accompanied him to the Jonquil apartments, remaining there all night. The following morning, she said, Mrs. Rosenberg, proprietor of the apartments, took her to another room, where she met a man who was introduced as Mr. King. The woman left them alone, the girl testified, after King had said he would treat her all right. She said King locked the door and they remained there some time. Asked to identify King in the courtroom, the girl pointed to Bixby. She testified that at various times the man gave her money. She believed the total to be between $500 and $600. The largest amount was $190, she said, for which she asked because she was told to tell King she was going East and needed money for clothes. She testified that Mrs. Rosenberg got half of this money. She said King came to the Jonquil apartments at least once a week. "How did you first learn that Bixby's name was not King?" asked the prosecutor.

"One afternoon I was with him when he was dressing and I saw the initials G. H. B. on his shirt," the girl replied.

When the case was resumed this morning, Cleo Helen Barker, Bixby's accuser, was called as the first witness. After the usual questions establishing identification, Prosecutor Keyes demanded: "How old are you?" "The complaint sets forth that the girl is a minor," the defense objected, the court sustaining the objection. Defense Attorney Davis asserted that the witness could have only her knowledge of her age. The witness then recited the story of her life before she met Bixby.

BANDITS CONFESS CRIME TO SAVE INNOCENT MEN

ROME, Sept. 18.—Declaring that they desired to prevent the arrest of innocent people, two well-known Sicilian bandits named Bandozzo and Gallo, have written to the Giornale di Sicilia confessing that they are the murderers of Cavalier Serge, estate agent to Prince Trabia, who was found dead on a lonely road near Calatanzetta, Sicily, recently. Serge, who was known to have been in possession of a large sum of money, which he had collected for rentals, had been robbed. The murderers, in their letter, added a warning to certain landowners in Sicily not to warn the police when "unfortunate malefactors" ask for small pecuniary aid.

Bandozzo and Gallo today are still at large although several squads of government troops have scoured their usual haunts.

POMERENE RENEWS WINE TAX FIGHT

Declares He Will Insist on Restoration of Tariff Bill Amendment

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Senator Pomerene has returned from Ohio and at once resumed his efforts to restore his amendment taxing California wines to the tariff bill. To intimidate here he stated that he would insist on the restoration of the amendment, and that he was confident of success.

Despite his attitude, Mr. Tarpey, representing the California viticultural interests, Theodore A. Bell, Louis Wetmore and the other California representatives are satisfied that the action of the conference committee in rejecting the Pomerene amendment will stand. The only fear is that at the last moment a substitute equally obnoxious may be placed in the tariff bill, although this possibility is remote.

CURRENCY BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—By a vote of 286 to 84 the house today passed the Glass-Wilson currency bill. Many Republicans and all the Progressives supported the bill.

The vote followed the rejection of several amendments. The house reaffirmed the Floss amendment providing that nothing in the measure could be misconstrued as invalidating gold as the standard of coinage.

"Free silver," the Bryan campaign slogan in 1890, was cast out of the Glass-Wilson administration currency bill rock and heels last night. This "joker" had been found in the administration currency bill by Representative S. D. Fess of Ohio, Republican, who called the attention of the house to the matter and demanded that the bill be purged. Fess offered ten amendments providing that "nothing in this act shall be construed as to repeal the gold standard of March 14, 1900, providing for the maintenance of the purity of all moneys."

After a hurried conference the house banking and currency committee agreed to report the amendment favorably and it was passed by the house at last night's session. This is the only Republican amendment to the currency bill made by a Republican which has been accepted by the majority.

TWO LADS ADRIFT AT SEA 48 HOURS

Had Neither Food Nor Water; Saved by Buffalo 90 Miles Off Coronado Islands

The mariners sailed from San Pedro last Sunday in the June Bug, a small catboat. McClellan and Ponds owe their lives to the fact that the lookout on the Buffalo discovered the flaming masses of waste which at intervals they hurled in the air to attract the attention of passing vessels.

IMPEACHMENT COURT FOR SULZER

Man Elected As Governor of New York Before 57 of His Peers

AN IMPOSING ARRAY OF ATTORNEYS FOR GOV.

Seeks Ruling From Appeals Court That Assembly Exceeded Their Power

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Senator Wagner called the Sulzer impeachment court to order at 11:50 o'clock today.

Gov. Sulzer was placed on trial before the impeachment court of fifty-seven members which was called to order at 11:50 o'clock. The court adjourned at 12:55 after transacting no business beyond the swearing in of the members. Gov. Sulzer was represented by an imposing array of attorneys. He was not present personally, although constantly in telephonic communication with his counsel. Sulzer will try to secure a ruling from the judges of the Court of Appeals that the assembly exceeded its power when it impeached him. It is reported that if successful he may resign and appeal to the voters independently at the next election. His friends say he prefers submitting his recall to the people instead of to the politicians.

Sulzer's attorneys announced that they were present "to object to the jurisdiction of the high court and its membership." It is not expected the objection will be sustained but the defense raised the point to force a vote, permitting them to ascertain the attitude of the justices of appeal who are included in the impeachment court. They then objected to the swearing of Senators Frawley, Wagner, Ramsperger and Sanner on the ground that they have prepared and have prejudiced the case.

They had a lengthy brief but Chief Justice Cullen cut the discussion short by saying both objections would be considered later. The proceedings were impressive and silent despite the packed gallery. Each member was sworn separately.

Special charges against Sulzer include the following: That he filed with the secretary of state a false statement of his receipts during his gubernatorial campaign; that he committed perjury in this statement; that he bribed witnesses to withhold testimony from the legislative committee investigating campaign accounts; that he suppressed evidence by means of threats, keeping witnesses from testifying; that he dismissed one witness from attending under subpoena; that he committed larceny by speculating in stocks with money contributed for his campaign; that as governor he threatened to use his office to affect the vote of certain public officers; that while governor he corruptly used authority to affect price securities on the New York exchange.

LOVE-MAKING INTERRUPTED BY OFFICER

Under Sheriff Law Hunted for Burglar But Found an Adoring Couple

Suppose you were a love-sick youth and had seated yourself beside your lady love in a secluded spot, and suppose that just as you were telling her the thoughts that had your brain awash, and suppose that just about the time you were going to ask her to be your own dear little wife, a deputy sheriff with a big revolver in his hands should appear out of the darkness and point that revolver at your head!

That very awful thing is what happened to a young man at the corner of Fifteenth and Durant streets last night about 9 o'clock.

The young man had selected the side-porch of Norman Hoyle's house for his love-making. Hoyle is away from home, and his sister, Mrs. Freeman, who lives near her charge of the place. Last night from her home she observed indistinctly persons in the yard at the Hoyle home.

She immediately suspected that the house was being burglarized. She went to the telephone, and called up Under Sheriff George Law, who lives half a block from the corner. She told him what she suspected.

Now Under Sheriff Law has had one experience with burglars in that neighborhood. Last December he went across to a vacant house with George Bates, and the first thing he knew a burglar had a gun in his face. The only reason Law was not killed was that the gun missed fire. There was a shooting then and there, Law drawing his gun and firing after he was covered. The burglar, Donald Coleman, was killed by Law just as he tried to kill Bates.

Last night when Law received Mrs. Freeman's message, he buckled on his artillery and started alone to round up the burglars at the Hoyle house.

The house is on a corner. Law had his eyes and ears open as he walked along the sidewalk. Suddenly he saw the head of a man looking at him from over the rail beside the steps of the porch.

Quick as lightning Law jerked out his gun, jumped behind a protecting corner and held the revolver on the young man. It was a young lover, not a burglar. There wasn't a chance for that fellow coming out alive if he had opened up any gun-play. But since he was not a burglar, he only felt uncomfortable. He had nothing to say, Law was grim enough, but suddenly his grimness faded to a smile, for on peering over the railing he saw a girl sitting on the steps beside the young man.

Law put his revolver back in the holster, and in a most businesslike tone he explained to the couple whose love-making he had interrupted that some of the neighbors thought they were burglars, that they would have a hard time explaining the situation should it happen that burglars had been there, that the best thing for them to do was to go elsewhere to do their love-making. They promised, and Law returned home.

Another Adventure
Law is having more than his share of adventures with the fair sex. The day previous he got a telegram from San Diego to board the Santa Fe and arrest a girl running away from San Diego. The girl was described as blue-eyed, with several gold teeth in front, wearing a blue dress and blue stockings.

It was a combination that could hardly get by. Law and Deputies Dean and Glover went to the train. Dean saw a girl in blue in a car he went through. He was unable to observe her hosiery or her teeth. He told Law about his suspicions, and since there was no other girl in blue on the train, Law "saw his duty and he done it." Had the prey been a bunch of drunken Mexicans the officers would have waded in without a quaver.

Law walked to her seat, and he said: "Is your name Ida?" Law did not remember the last name of the girl he wanted.

"Yes, my name is Ida," said she. And Law was stumped. He did not want to ask her to let him see her teeth or her hosiery, but his duty compelled him.

"I have a telegram for a girl who looks like you, and the distinguishing descriptive features are her gold teeth, and her—well, 'er, would you mind smiling?"

The girl was already smiling, and there was not a sign of gold in her teeth.

"You are not the girl," said Law much relieved. He was all of a sweat, for if he had been compelled to go forward with his quiz, he certainly would have fainted had he been compelled to ask her to show him the color of her hosiery.

"I beg your pardon for this little informal visit," said he, "but as an officer I was compelled to make certain that the girl we wanted was not on the train."

The girl forgave him. She thought it a huge joke.

Law called up the San Diego officer, and told his experience.

"No, not that girl," said the San Diego man. "She is going East. This girl we want had gold teeth and blue stockings."

"I know that the girl I interviewed had no gold teeth in front," said Law. "I don't know what color her stockings are."

DREADNAUGHT'S
PEER IS U.S.S.
IDAHOWins Pennant in Gunning and Engineering in Naval Practice

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 17.—From the great mast of the U. S. S. Idaho there flies a little triangular pennant that the officers and crew gaze upon with proud reverence. For this is the badge that announces to the world that the Idaho in a contest with the dreadnaughts of Uncle Sam's fighting fleets, has proven herself the peer of all. From the torpedo boat Whipple and (when it's above water), from the submarine A-2 float similar banners, showing that they are the cracks of their divisions.

The navy has just finished its annual battle practice, and the standings have been added up. Gunning and engineering—shooting and boatsmanship—have been the trials and the rivalry and efficiency of this year have eclipsed all the others.

In the battleship class, the Idaho with a score of 94.652 leads in both, but the Utah, 100 per cent in engineering as against 87.818 which the Idaho got, scored as the best handled craft. The Idaho's perfect gun score of 100 as against the Utah's score of 80 per cent won it the margin, however. The other vessels in the first division were: Michigan, 85; New Hampshire and Florida, 78; and Maryland and Delaware, 77.

In the torpedo class, the Whipple scored 95.393 per cent. The Ammon, Truxter, Stewart, Beale, Jonett and Warrington all ranged from 85 per cent in gunning and engineering.

In the submarines the scores were low, ranging 69 down to 19 per cent. F-3 made 100 in gunning, but was not awarded the pennant.

COMMERCIAL TEACHER OF LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL HAS PUBLISHED FINE TEXT-BOOK

Mrs. Iva M. Webber, vice principal and head of the department of English and business correspondence of the Santa Ana Polytechnic High School, has just completed the publication of a new text book, entitled "Handbook of Commercial English."

As a teacher in the schools here, Mrs. Webber has used the material now incorporated in her book, and she knows that the lessons are practical and that the book is a success from a teacher's standpoint. It will be used by pupils of her class this year, and will be put on sale at local book stores.

Mrs. Webber is to be complimented upon her enterprise. The book has been examined by many prominent educators of the state. They are all well pleased with it and state that they believe it will come into general use among commercial schools.

This volume has been prepared for use in business colleges, commercial departments in high schools, and for evening schools, where it will be especially useful to foreigners who have acquired only a partial command of the English language.

The author has given the material of the book a thorough trial of several years in her own classes. She has found it to be of real interest to her pupils, and eminently practical. Her work has received the highest commendation from expert teachers, superintendents and examiners.

A glance at the index shows the thoroughness with which the demands of actual school and office work have been met. There are chapters on the framework of business letters, their composition, correspondence hints, credits, and collections, sentence structure, word studies, synonyms, syllabification, orthography, the hyphen, capitalization, punctuation—with models of various kinds of letters, such as letters bearing remittance, ordering goods, inability to fill order, asking for credit, following-up letters, advertisement writing, etc. The chapters on the study of special words that are often confused in the minds of young students, are particularly helpful. There are many other interesting features.

PROTECTION IS ASSURED

Board of Trade Gives Supervisor Schumacher Positive Pledge

Each Supervisorial District to be Assessed $1,000 for Maintenance

Anaheim Gazette: Final assurance that the people of this city would adequately protect the $70,000 concrete bridge spanning the river at Olive after its construction, were given Supervisor Schumacher at a special meeting of the board of trade Monday night. For more than a year the question of a new bridge to supplant the old wooden structure erected a quarter of a century ago has been before the people and it is now assured and protection to its approaches pledged by responsible people of Anaheim and its neighborhood. A special meeting of the board was called Monday evening to meet Supervisor Schumacher who was desirous of securing a pledge from the board that ample protection would be furnished in order to be able to report the same to the board of supervisors at Tuesday's meeting when the bids for the construction of the bridge were to be opened.

Mr. Schumacher stated to the board that the law gives the supervisors authority to draw $1,000 from each of the five supervisorial districts for protection after its construction. The district attorney had ruled that a channel could be established, and deeds must be secured from the property owners on the banks of the river for the ground, the deeds to convey the land to the county. Three thousand dollars, he thought, would be ample for the purpose. There would be no liabilities for damages, he thought, so long as the course of the stream was not changed and the outlines of what is supposed to be a channel maintained. He wanted the promises of the board and the parties most vitally interested that the protection asked would be accorded.

He received enthusiastic assurance from those present that all necessary work for the protection of the structure would be undertaken and accomplished by the Anaheim Board of Trade. "You can inform the board of supervisors," said P. C. Krause, "that we have all kinds of money pledged for this purpose and there can be no question of adequate protection of the approaches."

Henry Adams suggested that the board immediately begin circulating blanks for signatures pledging the necessary funds for the work.

It is estimated that it will cost $250 each to drive the piles along the river bank which will form the foreground for the levees which it is proposed to construct. Three hundred piles will be required and the cost, therefore, of placing them will be $7500. The Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroad companies have promised to donate the piling, consequently that sum would cover all the cost.

The distance between the Olive bridge and the railroad bridge is one and one-half miles but 1,800 feet of dyking will give ample protection to the bridge approaches. G. L. Dietrick suggested that after the piles had been driven and bundles of brushwood planted along the frontage, the city trustees be requested to discontinue the city's dumping ground on East street and hereafter haul all garbage to the river's bank and dump it into the levees. Also that the small mound of tin cans, wire, etc., now on the dump be utilized for this purpose. The idea met with unanimous approval and the trustees will be asked to co-operate to this extent.

As every property owner along the river's bank is an earnest advocate for protection there is no question of the county's securing the deeds to the necessary ground for establishing a permanent channel for the stream. County Surveyor McBride, when he makes the survey, and establishes the line, will secure the deeds. The river's channel will probably be fixed at 600 feet in width.

MISS WILSON'S UPPER BERTH

Much newspaper comment has been caused by the incident of Miss Eleanor Wilson and the upper sleeping car berth she had to occupy. It appears that on her recent journey no man occupying a lower was willing to give it up to the President's daughter.

Some newspapers comment on this as typical of the lower tone of modern deference to women. Others say that Miss Wilson is young and healthy and could climb aloft as well as any one.

Unfortunately chivalry is disappearing in public places. The man who gives up his seat in a city street car to a woman is looked at curiously, as if he came from the country.

With all the rush and strain of modern life, much of this change is inevitable. If the rule of chivalry is to prevail, the methodical man who has taken pains to write ahead for his berth must give it up to the foolish virgin who trusted to luck and masculine chivalry. This depreciates the virtue of foresight and puts a premium on negligence.

The toiling merchant or mechanic returning home by a city street car, may naturally feel disinclined to abandon his seat for the benefit of fluffy femininity out for exercise and an airing. But this feeling soon encourages a general masculine selfishness that drops all sex distinctions in elbowing and jostling for comfort.

As to Miss Wilson's case, she may have had no opportunity to plan the details of her journey. It does seem as if the daughter of a president were entitled to special courtesies. It detracts from the dignity of the chosen representatives of the people if they and their families must scramble like the rest of us. Why should not a man be glad to forego the slight extra convenience of the lower berth to do honor to the presidential office and those connected with it?

SEECIAL WASHINGTON LETTER

By Burton K. Standish.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—About this time of the year when Little Johnny is worrying his parents into producing the necessary cash for new school books and is preparing to take up the "arduous" task of another nine months' education, the United States Public Health Service comes along with something else for Johnny's parents to worry about. Is Johnny in the pink of health? Is his school room sanitary? Is Johnny's desk of the right construction to fit his little back and are there other children sitting at John's right or left who may not be healthy and who may transmit disease to Johnny? All of these and other things are asked of American parents by Surgeon J. W. Schereschewski, the Public Health Service's expert who has made an exhaustive study of the subject of medical inspection of schools. The surgeon has a plan which he believes would eliminate the danger of "school room disease distribution," so common to the crowded class rooms of today. He would attach to almost every school in the United States a thorough medical inspection code, a school physician and a nurse. A school clinic and private dispensary would also be provided.

"We are all agreed that children are the potential capital of the state and it is upon the subsequent efficiency of the citizens embryo that the future prosperity of any body politic depends," declared Surgeon Schereschewski.

"Adequate medical inspection in the schools would greatly decrease the number of public charges and other dependents now in our midst. I would recommend: A careful and scientific watch over all public school children, their health and development, mental and physical; preventing here, correcting there, some vice of conformation, faulty habit and defective physical state so that the child arrives upon the threshold of citizenship with a future unhandicapped by disease, ready at once to become an efficient social unit; sanitary school inspection; physical health of teachers and other school employees; playgrounds in abundance, study of hygiene and the fundamental principles of the prevention of disease in the school curriculum.

"A school physician, applying all his time; examining all persons connected with the school; supervising school equipment, ventilation and sanitation and instructing health and hygiene classes.

"A school nurse attending to all minor ills of the children; collecting defective children from classrooms to be examined by the physician; examining children in their homes; keeping various records and assisting the physician generally.

"A clinic solely for school children where prompt and efficient treatment may be given without the necessity of depending on over-crowded hospitals and dispensaries."

Seventy-one and seven-tenths per cent of 78,401 children examined in the city of New York presented some form of physical defect or disease requiring treatment, according to the surgeon. Out of 716 children examined in Minneapolis, 462, or 65.1 were defective to the extent of requiring medical treatment. The same rate is true of most all other large city schools of the United States and decidedly higher in foreign countries.

"Sight and hearing are the two senses it is the most important to safeguard during childhood, yet it is these two which we find most commonly defective among school children. Many children, not learning properly in school, are backward because of some defect of the eyes or ears, usually of a remediable nature. Some twenty per cent of all school children here suffer from defective vision while from six to seven per cent have defective hearing.

"Malnutrition, adenoid growths, enlarged tonsils, flatfoot, defective teeth, worms, vermin, chronic communicable diseases are all the ills of childhood that can be effectively remedied if taken in time but are likely to result in permanent defects, many times at the expense of the child's future, if allowed to proceed without medical attention. Spinal curvatures are often due to vicious postures caused by improper desks, bad lighting, undeveloped muscles and other improper conditions of the schoolroom that could be remedied by an experienced physician in charge.

"From five to fifteen per cent of all school children suffer from active tuberculosis. Intestinal parasites, mental deficiency and nervous affections are also among the more serious children's diseases which should be detected and treated early.

"Twenty states have recognized the necessity for medical inspection of schools and have made some legal provision for its conduct, but an adequate, mandatory administration, has not yet been adopted in any of them."

CHARITIES OF LOS ANGELES TO BE RUN BY THE CITY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—The municipal charities commission recently formally adopted a proposition from the Associated Charities, which was decided upon at a meeting held the day before, that it take charge of and reorganize the latter organization. Meantime, every employee on the executive staff has been dismissed and the affairs of the Associated Charities temporarily placed in charge of Miss Lillian Haley.

It is claimed that the Associated Charities has been run inefficiently, and even worse. Prosecutions, however, are not likely to take place. The municipal charities will endeavor to enlist a committee of prominent women to personally look after the Associated Charities' business.

WHY SOME PEOPLE VOTED AGAINST THE BAND CONCERT TAX

Editor Register:—By the election last Friday the policy of continuing the park band concerts has been endorsed by the people of this city. The only work done was in behalf of the tax and yet it carried by only forty votes. Allow me, as one who voted against it, to explain my reasons and suggest some things with reference to these concerts.

I am fond of music. It is a most entertaining, soothing and refining influence in our lives. Nothing could be better for our city or our citizens than these band concerts—if we could hear them! Last season I attended one of the best conducted. It was a beautiful, balmy summer evening. The police officers were present and alert. They had all the automobiles parked around the outside of the encircling streets, and so far as they could, kept the very best of order.

Hardly had the first number on the program begun when a few automobiles, arriving late, drove up to the park, and some of them entirely around it, changing their gears, buzzing and chugging into the low and back into the high, utterly destroying, if not smothering, the sweet, restful tones of the music. This also occurred at times throughout the entire concert and while the band was playing. Then, when the automobiles were not crucifying the music with their staccato and raucous tones, young boys—and older ones—were calling to each other, talking, laughing, walking and moving about, and even staid, mature matrons and grizzled fathers of families seated in their automobiles could not refrain from making comments on the music, inquiring of their neighbors concerning the latest news, and discussing anything and everything that suggested itself.

True, the interruptions were by a few scattered individuals at first. But when Mrs. A. called out to her neighbor, Mrs. B., whom she observed in an auto some yards away, "that she was glad to see her out to encourage the band concert," and the two drifted into a general conversation in a tone so loud that it practically destroyed the effect of the music, their neighbors in self-defense had to follow suit by getting what social enjoyment they could in like conversation.

The break, thus begun, naturally and rapidly spread until almost everyone in the automobiles was talking, and the people in the park promenades were walking, chatting, laughing—in fact, doing everything but listening to the music, or allowing others to listen to it. I went away disappointed and disgusted; and many others, no doubt, found themselves in the same condition.

Why cannot the automobiles, in addition to parking, be required to remain stationary and quiet all around the park and for half a block away while the band is playing? Why should not those who come to hear the music be required to refrain from all conversation except in a whisper and from all noise while it is in progress? If it is worth while to tax the people for these concerts, does not fairness require that the trustees adopt such regulations for order as will enable citizens to hear and enjoy the music they have paid for?

If it can be done I believe the tax would be continued with ever-increasing majority in its favor; if not, there will probably be organized opposition to it at the next election.

Respectfully,
E. E. KEECH.

THAT DOLLAR SOCIAL

Church Ladies Told How They Raised Money—'Kerchief Shower for Bazaar'

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Christian Church braved the "hot, hotter, hottest" heat yesterday afternoon to attend the Dollar Social and Handkerchief Social set for that date at the church. Deciding that discretion was the better part of valor on such a hot day, the ladies deserted the parlors of the church and turned the basement into a parlor for the afternoon. They found it delightfully cool and the thirty-five ladies present congratulated themselves on being there.

The event, while called a dollar social, was really an experience social where the ladies told how they had raised the dollar contributed by each one to the treasury of the society. The ways told of were many. Several of the experiences were told in rhyme and "honorable mention" is given the jingles written by Mesdames Paul Wright, Mrs. A. Carlyle, Mrs. F. M. Seeley, Mrs. R. T. Harris, Mrs. Starkey and Mrs. Glat narrated their experiences in short story style. Altogether the "experiences" proved most entertaining. Some of the ladies pitted aprons in order to earn their dollars, one sold roasting ears, another rented her horse, one washed lace curtains, and one sold an electric iron on commission.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the playing of piano solos by young girls, the performers being Misses Bertha Miller, Eleanor Sturgeon, Ireda Coulson, Elizabeth Wright, Master Paul Allen Wright entertained the company with a speech which was properly applauded.

Forty handkerchiefs were received for the bazaar to be held shortly before the holidays and $40 was turned in from the dollar campaign. About 100 ladies have yet to be heard from in contributions of both money and handkerchiefs.

Ice cold lemonade was served in the afternoon, and after the program and handkerchief shower, several varieties of California grapes were enjoyed. Wild sunflowers massed in jardiniere were used in decorations of the church.

Married in China
Last night at Foochow, China, Ed. H. Munson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Munson of 2608 North Main street, was married to Miss Clara H. Dornblaser, a teacher in the girls' college at Foochow. Munson is Y.M.C.A. secretary of China.

Orange County Conservatory of Music
We are greatly pleased with the increasing interest in our Violin department. It was not an encouraging task to establish this department, for strictly first class Violin instruction was almost an unknown quantity here at the time we did so.

However, under the very efficient charge of Miss Lalla Fagge of Los Angeles, the work is proving very popular indeed.

Miss Fagge will undoubtedly be obliged to spend Monday and Thursday of each week at the Conservatory as she did last year.

Don't miss the advantages of early enrollment!

SONOMA COUNTY WOM. AN SHOWS WOMEN CAN SUCCEED IN BUSINESS

Up near Santa Rosa, Sonoma county, where Mrs. Walter Tedford was born and raised, and where she has many relatives, and where the W. B. Tedfords frequently visit, lives an enterprising woman who owns one of the largest berry farms in the state. She is Mrs. Laura E. Larlow.

This feminine berry-raiser of Sonoma county employs one hundred boys of the Boys and Girls Aid Society of San Francisco to pick her berry crop, and she kept them employed all of this last summer. One big part of the business on this berry ranch is the drying of the berries, a feature looked after personally by Mrs. Larlow.

Mrs. Barlow, who has so successfully demonstrated that a woman can farm well, superintends all the business of her berry farm.

Mission Rally Day

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Congregational church held a very pleasant meeting yesterday in the church. Prof. Harry Garstang of Williams College, Mass., played several selections on the pipe organ and also sang for the company, after which, on account of the excessive heat, the ladies repaired to the basement where they were cool and comfortable. A fine program was rendered and a social hour followed during which cooling refreshments were enjoyed.

The occasion was "Rally Day" for the society and the services were impressive. Mrs. C. F. Crose led in devotionals and the subject for the afternoon was "The Ideal Woman." Prayers were offered by Mrs. Pendleton, who prayed for the mothers, Mrs. Staff for the women and Mrs. Strong for the missionaries. Mrs. Neelley read a fine paper on "Looking Forward and Backward," and Mrs. Strong spoke on the missionary, Miss Denton, and her work in Japan.

Coming Back From England

A letter from Alan A. Revill, under date of Sept. 23, Maldon, England, states that he will be in Santa Ana on Sept. 23. He will immediately resume his work as organist and choir director of the First Congregational church, also his work with his music pupils. Mr. Revill will call choir practice immediately and get the fall music under way for his church.

Mr. Revill states that while he has had the happiest of reunions with his many relatives and friends in England, and that the weather there has almost equalled that of California for sunshine, he is looking forward to seeing his Santa Ana friends and to the resuming of his work in the church.

At Mrs. Rittner's

Notwithstanding the excessive heat of yesterday afternoon the ladies of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church had a most enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. S. C. H. Rittner, 1502 Spurgeon street. Mrs. F. L. Austin, president of the society, was in the chair and the meeting was opened by the singing of that old devotional hymn, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." Following the devotionals and scripture reading and the singing of another hymn, "Let the Lower Lights be Burning," the program was given under the direction of Mesdames Brown and Rittner. The topic for the afternoon was "China," and it was handled in an interesting fashion. The program was closed with the singing of "China's New Flag," rendered to the tune of America. The words of the song are interesting in view of the fact that of China's mighty step from the status of an empire to that of a Republic.

Following the program a social hour was spent, and the hostess served delicious fruitade and home made cake to the company.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Husband and Daughter Planned Happy Surprise for Mrs. Henry Moesser

A delightful surprise party was given to Mrs. Henry Moesser at her pretty home on West Highland street last evening, the occasion being her birthday. The affair was planned by Mr. Moesser and daughter, Mrs. Ralph Paul.

The large cool porch and lawn were very much enjoyed after heat of the preceding day. Cooling ice cream and delicious cake were served in the big screened-off porch in the rear of the pleasant home.

Following this refreshing feature of the evening the company returned to the parlors where piano music was enjoyed, those contributing being Miss Lela West, Miss Elma Lapland, Mrs. Ralph Paul and Mrs. Moesser.

Mrs. Moesser was the recipient of many pretty birthday gifts and a postal card shower. Those who aided Mrs. Moesser in celebrating her birthday were the host, Mr. Henry Moesser, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lofland, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moesser, Mrs. Clifford West, Misses Lela and Stella West, Elma Lofland, Vivian Moesser, Messrs. Verne West, Howard Paul and Norman Paul.

Perkins Parker

News has been received here that W. W. Perkins, the manager of the Perkins rose farm, formerly located at Villa Park, was married on September 6, 1913, at the residence of Mr. Howard Chamberlain, Berkeley, California, to Miss Fannie Parker of Grinnell, Iowa. Mr. Perkins resides at 805 North Spurgeon street, Santa Ana.

For Mrs. Quick

Mrs. S. H. Finley and Mrs. Leslie McBride entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. J. G. Quick, who soon leaves for the East. Sixteen or twenty of the immediate neighbors and friends were present at the informal affair of yesterday. Needlework and conversation sped the hours. Delicious refreshments were served.

An At Home

Mrs. W. M. Clayton closed her series of three successive entertainments yesterday with a Kensington At Home and luncheon.

The cool porches were utilized for the afternoon following the beautifully served luncheon at 1 o'clock, and the centerpiece for which was a mass of red geraniums. Fancy-work kept the ladies busy as they chatted under the shade of the trees that protected the home from Old Sol's scorching rays yesterday. Mrs. Clayton proved a most efficient hostess, and the party was so pleasing that the warmth of the weather was forgotten.

The invited list of guests included Mesdames Henry Rutherford, Arthur Ames, G. A. Whidden, Prince Tople, M. A. Menges, Theodore Lacy, Jr., J. A. Stevenson, J. A. Cranston, E. H. McMath, J. W. McCormack, Robert R. Shafter, J. B. Rice, Victor A. Montomery, Kate Felton, A. R. Rowley, George Peters, B. M. Culter.

BELIEVES THE HOTTEST DAY WAS IN 1894

Dr. J. G. Bernicke does not believe that yesterday was the hottest day Santa Ana ever had. He recalls that there was a day in August, 1894, that was just as hot if not hotter, and he thinks more harmful. He remembers that some of his chickens died of the heat on that day, and none did yesterday. He says that some of the bulls were damaged yesterday so that there will be difficulty in hulling, but he does not think the meats were hurt.

TAYLOR'S CASH STORE OPENS NEXT SATURDAY

AMUSEMENTS

At the Auditorium Theater

"The Golden Dream," a spectacular fantasy in six scenes. Synopsis of scene: Little Goldilocks, an only child, surfeited with everything money can buy, longs only for a baby playmate. She is all happiness on being advised by her nurse that a little stranger is coming to gladden their home. Tired out after her romp with the girls she falls asleep, and in her dream awakes in "Babylonia," in search of her baby playmates. Her nurse who appears to her as a Fairy Queen, informs her that the little soul is on its way. Goldilocks enters a cloud with the Fairy Queen and on her way down to the earth again visits the Esquimos at the top of the world, dances as a butterfly among the poppies, and finally in Midland has an abrupt awakening after greedy old King Midas has been given the power of turning everything he touches into gold. At first disappointed on realizing that it has all been a dream, she is transported with joy when the nurse enters with the real little stranger.

EXTRACTING SWEETNESS FROM BEETS

Sugar Men Say Tariff Bill is a Menace to Sugar Men

Los Angeles Times: With a store of sweetness down from Mother Earth, hidden beneath as unattractive exteriors as may be imagined more than a million tons of sugar beets will be washed through the big flumes of the eleven California beet sugar factories before the present sugar "campaign" is finished.

With earth clinging to their roots and discoloring the water which carries them along, this endless procession of big and little beets bumps and rolls through the flumes from the pumping bins into the factories whose giant wheels have never ceased turning since the opening of the present campaign, for work in the sugar factories continues day and night from the time the first beet goes into the flume until the last one passes through the washer and comes out scrubbed clean.

It is this never ceasing stream of grotesque dun-colored clods and millions of their fellows, with the tons of sugar they represent that has aroused Southern California beet-growers to the danger that confronts the beet-sugar industry by the passage of the Underwood bill.

Between Santa Ana and Huntington Beach, fifteen loading stations, handling an average of 200 tons of beets each day of the 100 days' run, have sprung up during the last five years. Stretching away as far as the eye can reach are the shifting greens of acres and acres of beets, one of the most profitable crops in Southern California.

The beet crop this year will exceed last year's in many parts of the state and especially so in Southern California. According to the Pacific Slope Beet Sugar Association 112,000 acres were planted to beets from which it is estimated 1,037,499 tons of sugar will be produced, or a total value of the crop to the farmers of the state of $6,500,000. Small wonder then the interest that is centered in the lowly beet.

With 1,000,000 sacks of sugar representing $550,000 in possible freight revenues flaunted under their very noses, the freight men of Los Angeles began yesterday a concerted movement to see if anything can be done to turn the tariff tide in favor of the beet. That it is practically too late is the belief now, but even the most sanguine acknowledge that the passage of the Underwood bill will cripple the beet-sugar industry.

Gen. F. H. Case, president of the Southern California Sugar Company at Santa Ana, stated that he believed the passage of this bill would put the Louisiana and Hawaiian sugar planters out of business.

"The immediate effect of this legislation in California," said Gen. Case, "will be the probable reduction of the price paid to the beet farmer for his crop. We believe the proposed legislation to be an onslaught on the sugar industry by the refineries of New York, which are classed as the sugar trust. That is why the sugar people of this state and the other sugar-producing states are up in arms."

Second Vice-President Clark of the Salt Lake Railroad stated that California's contribution to the sugar supply of the world would be 2,000,000 bags, of which full one-half would be shipped to Arizona, New Mexico and the territory to the east and north thereof at the nearly-uniform transportation rate of 55 cents a sack. It is this that made the freight men scurry to the aid of the homely beet.

According to Gen. Case the climate and soil of California are especially adapted to beet-raising. In Germany and France where the beet crop is considered of such value that it is protected by a tariff so high that no other sugar is ever admitted to those countries, it has always been necessary to rotate the beet crop with cereal crops every four years, but in California, this has never been needed. For fifteen years crops of beets have been grown on the same land and each year there has been an increase.

ROOSTERS CROW, COW BAWLS, PUPPY HOWLS! OH MY! OH MY! OH ME!

City Marshal Jernigan is willing to pay a liberal prize to the high school student who will invent a muffler. A muffler for automobile engines or a muffler for dogs that bite are not the mufflers that the city marshal wants. He wants a muffler for roosters, another for a dog that howls at night and a muffler for a cow that bawls day and night.

The thing that got the chicken in the neck is the best known and only reliable muffler for roosters, but the city marshal is not in a position to apply the remedy. Recently he has had a number of complaints against roosters. It seems that these warring nights some of the light sleepers find that the least noise awakens them, and not the least of noises is the lusty crow of a barnyard fowl. In that respect it may be said that the male of the species is far more dangerous than the female.

The city marshal has been appealed to. He has been asked to make some of the neighbors quit letting their roosters crow. Some of the roosters are said to need a throat tonic to tone down the grating sounds that come forth to make night hideous.

Jernigan is willing to do what he can do, and he can't even arrest the roosters for disturbing the peace. He will probably end in bringing some of the owners of the yellow-legged varieties before City Recorder Willson, in which case the fine will be five roosters or five days in jail.

Roosters are not all that the city marshal has heard about in the last day or two. He was called up on the telephone and told that there is a cow out on Washington avenue that has been doing a lot of bawling for her calf, which was separated from her a day or two ago.

And last night came a call from East Walnut near the gas works. The statement made to the police was that Mr. Swishelm has a new puppy in his barn, shed or garage—the exact place not stated—and that puppy has been everlastingly wanting his mamma.

Couldn't the police make that puppy quit his howling? Well, now, the police could stop him with a bill-club, or by holding his mouth shut. Possibly a muzzle would do the work. Jernigan thinks that after the hot spell passes people will sleep sounder, and the crowing of roosters, bawling of cows, howling of puppies and screeching of cats won't be heard as often as they are now.

Adenoids Are a Menace to Children. Health and young children must be carefully watched for the growth of adenoids, which spoil the mental and physical life of a child. They usually result from a succession of colds and throat irritations, and their presence is so productive of harm, that many school boards have an examining physician to detect them. The conditions that cause them may be easily avoided by careful parents. Quickly and thoroughly cure all colds and throat irritations by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and adenoids will not develop. Rowley Drug Co. and White Cross Drug Co.—Advertisement.

Action Brought in the Superior Court by Los Angeles Man Against M. L. Lane

This morning Under Sheriff Law served attachment papers on M. L. Lane's furniture store on West Fourth street pursuant to a writ taken out of the superior court yesterday evening in an action brought against Lane by S. H. Peters of Los Angeles. Peters asks judgment for $647.68 on a bill.

In New Department
This morning Judge West took cognizance of the existence of Department No. 2. The district attorney ruled some time ago that the department existed even though a judge had not at that time been appointed. The matter did not come up in the superior court until today when District Attorney West asked that the trial of the action of the People against the City of Orange be set down for trial. Judge West viewed his calendar and found it filled for weeks ahead. West then asked that it be set down for Department No. 2, and that request was granted. The date set is Oct. 20.

Another case set for Department No. 2 was Harms against Hewes, Oct. 23.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

NOT GUILTY SAYS JURY IN THE FLAG FLYING TRIAL HERE

School Board Technically Guilty, But Evidently Did the Best it Could

It took a jury but a few minutes yesterday to bring in a verdict of not guilty against W. J. Travers, L. P. Drake, J. G. Launer, W. L. Hale and L. B. Steward, trustees of the Fullerton Union High School. These men, all well known, whose loyalty to the Stars and Stripes has never been questioned, were charged with having failed to fly the flag over the school buildings as required by law.

Edwin Stone, the janitor, was a witness. He said a flag was displayed in the study hall, but none was flown over the buildings until June 25. O. P. Knowlton, a G. A. R. veteran, the complainant, Ernest Edwards and Principal Delbert Brunton testified.

The defense admitted the testimony of the prosecution, but showed that in building the new school and getting the grounds cleared up the erection of a flagpole was delayed. After the pole was up there was a delay awaiting the setting of the cement. The board was cognizant of the law, but did the best it could under the circumstances.

The jury evidently took the ground that while the board was technically guilty, it had not shown any disrespect for the flag and did not intend that the school should continue without having a flag flying during sessions.
